

4. First Landing

This was it! Jessica's heart was beating most rapidly than usual. The time had come for Jessica to take control of the Cessna and land it all by himself. "That's no sweat," she thought. "I've seen it done a hundred times." Then her instructor told her to begin the landing procedures. She pushed the throttle in slowly to keep the plane from dropping too rapidly. The runway seemed to be coming up fast when she realized she was still too high. She pushed hard on the throttle. The plane suddenly rose. She was heading for the spectator's near the end of the runway! Her teacher axed her to ease the plane back up for another try. Was that a tremor she detected in his voice. The planes nose finally lifted just as she saw her friends diving for cover. "They forgive me tomorrow," she thought.

Jessica was excited to be in control and planned to execute a textbook landing. Unfortunately, she descended too slowly at first and then dropped suddenly.

Find the 8 errors in this activity. There are no errors in the illustration or the caption.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---